

SEEKING RESEARCH PARTICIPANTS

INQUIRE NOW

Whole Patient, Partial Records?

Exploring the Visibility of Belief-Based Data in Digital Palliative Systems

Palliative care nurses listen for patients' values, culture, and meaning every day seeking to include it into care; yet much of this conversation remains invisible in electronic health records.

This graduate research study explores how nurses document and use belief-based information within digital systems, and what that means for compassionate, whole-person care at end of life.

Are you a RN offering palliative care and documenting digitally?
Join one confidential, one-on-one 60 min virtual interview.

Dr. Karen Courtney (Principal Investigator, Director School of Health Information Science) and Ashley Moran (Principal Applicant, Graduate Student Health Information Science)